Financial Institutions

The Financial Institutions Department at Bank of Jordan is a key pillar of the Bank's institutional banking platform, driving both regional and international expansion. The department is organized into three specialized units—Correspondent Banking, FI Business Development & Trading Desk, and Non-Bank Financial Institutions (NBFIs)—each focused on distinct client segments, products, and market activities.

The department leads the formulation and execution of strategic initiatives aligned with shifting market dynamics, while fostering institutional relationships that support the Bank's trade finance, treasury, and correspondent banking operations.

Through the Correspondent Banking unit, the department manages an extensive and expanding network of global financial partners, along with a broad portfolio of nostro and vostro accounts that facilitate the Bank's international operations in Jordan, Palestine, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and other key markets. This unit also delivers trade finance services—such as letters of credit, guarantees, and discounting—and ensures strong compliance, risk oversight, and accurate reporting related to international transactions.

The FI Business Development & Trading Desk is responsible for originating and executing primary and secondary trade finance transactions, in addition to leading syndication and distribution efforts in cooperation with domestic, regional, and international banks. It offers solutions including LC confirmations, LG reissuance, and secondary market trading of trade finance instruments for both financial institutions and corporate clients. This desk also conducts in-depth market research and analysis to support data-driven decision-making. A notable strength of the department lies in its ability to secure trade-related financing and participate in risk-sharing arrangements, allowing it to function as a self-sustaining, revenue-generating unit aligned with the bank's trade strategy.

The Non-Bank FI unit provides comprehensive coverage of insurance companies, money service businesses (MSBs) such as exchange houses, sovereign wealth funds (SWFs), pension funds, and other non-bank financial institutions. It offers customized solutions including cash and liquidity management, financial markets products, guarantee structures, and custody services, particularly for sovereign and regional institutional clients.

In close coordination with the Treasury Department, the Financial Institutions team also plays a proactive role in promoting and sourcing financial products—facilitating access to international counterparties for foreign exchange and money market operations, while simultaneously cross-selling Bank of Jordan’s own local currency FX solutions to peer institutions. This reciprocal model enhances execution capabilities, expands market presence, and strengthens the bank’s overall treasury ecosystem.

The department also upholds a high standard of compliance and risk management, executing stringent due diligence and KYC procedures. It supervises accounts for exchange companies, manages U.S. Federal Benefit Unit (FBU) disbursements in Jordan and Palestine, and oversees the review and execution of key institutional agreements, including ISDAs, MRPA, and custody arrangements.

With its specialized structure, strategic focus, and operational independence, the Financial Institutions Department is a cornerstone of Bank of Jordan’s international banking strategy, reinforcing its standing as a trusted and agile partner within the global financial landscape.

Global Financial Institutions Department structured into the below three specialized units:

- Correspondent Banking.
